UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

J.C. IGLESIAS, et al.,

                    Plaintiffs,

                    v.

HOMEJOY, INC.,

                    Defendant.

Case No. 15-cv-01286-EMC

ORDER GRANTING PLAINTIFF’S MOTION FOR ENTRY OF DEFAULT

Docket No. 33

United States District Court
For the Northern District of California

Plaintiff J.C. Iglesias filed this collective and class action on behalf of individuals who have worked as cleaners for Defendant Homejoy, Inc. The complaint alleges that Homejoy violated its employees’ rights under both federal and state law by, inter alia, misclassifying cleaners as independent contracts, failing to pay overtime wages, and failing to reimburse for business expenses. Currently pending before the Court is Mr. Iglesias’s motion for entry of default.<sup>1</sup> In spite of being served, Homejoy did not file an opposition to the motion. Having considered the papers submitted, as well as all other evidence of record, the Court hereby GRANTS the motion for entry of default.

I. FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

Mr. Iglesias initiated this lawsuit in March 2015. See Docket No. 1 (complaint). Counsel for Homejoy made an appearance in April 2015. See Docket No. 13 (notice of appearance). Subsequently, the parties stipulated to, and the Court ordered, a stay of proceedings pending mediation. See Docket Nos. 18-19 (stipulation and order).

In July 2015, the parties submitted another stipulation for the Court’s consideration. This

<sup>1</sup> Although the motion is technically captioned as a motion for default judgment, the substance of the motion reflects that it is actually a motion for entry of default.

1 stipulation was an agreement between the parties that counsel for Homejoy could withdraw as
2 counsel. See Docket No. 23 (stipulation). The Court denied, without prejudice, the proposed
3 order permitting withdrawal, noting as follows:

4           In any future filing, [counsel] shall demonstrate that it has obtained
5 its client's informed consent to withdraw, and specifically informed
6 its counsel of the possibility of default if replacement counsel is not 7 timely obtained, and other possible negative consequences of 8 withdrawal. Homejoy shall certify that it has been so notified in 9 detail, understands the risks, and agrees to the withdrawal.

10           Docket No. 24 (order) (emphasis added).

11           Thereafter, Homejoy's CEO submitted a declaration "to certify that Homejoy has given 12 [counsel] its informed consent to withdraw." Docket No. 27 (Cheung Decl. ¶ 2). The CEO
13 explained:

14           Homejoy has made a decision to terminate operations and wind
15 down its financial affairs. In connection, Homejoy expects to enter
16 into an Assignment for Benefit of Creditors under California law
17 ("ABC") in the next two weeks. Paul Hastings [counsel] has 18 advised Homejoy of the possible negative consequences of Paul
19 Hastings' withdrawal, including that, as a corporate entity, Homejoy
20 cannot appear in the action without counsel; that accordingly, failure
21 to retain replacement counsel and to timely respond to the 22 Complaint could result in entry of a default judgment against 23 Homejoy; and that the lifting of the stay pending mediation may 24 trigger other litigation deadlines, including the need to respond to 25 any discovery served by Plaintiff. Paul Hastings has urged Homejoy
26 to move quickly to locate new counsel, so that Homejoy can ensure 27 a smooth transition of the case to new counsel. Due to the 28 impending ABC, Homejoy is not able to find replacement counsel for Paul Hastings at this time. However, I have been informed that once HomeJoy enters into the ABC, the Assignee intends to appoint replacement counsel.

29           Docket No. 27 (Cheung Decl. ¶ 3).

30           Based on the declaration, the Court permitted counsel for Homejoy to withdraw. See
31 Docket No. 28 (order).

32           In July 2015, Homejoy notified the Court through a status report that (1) it would be 33 terminating operations at the end of the month; (2) that it expected to enter into an Assignment for 34 the Benefit of Creditors under California law in August 2015; and (3) that it expected the assignee
35 to appoint replacement counsel. Accordingly, Homejoy asked for the Court to extend the stay.
36 See Docket No. 29 (status report). The Court granted the stay extension. See Docket No. 31

1 (order). Under the Court’s order, the stay expired on or about August 19, 2015.

2 Because no appearance of counsel was made after the expiration of the stay, Mr. Iglesias
3 filed the currently pending motion for entry of default on September 8, 2015.

4 II. DISCUSSION

5 Entry of default is appropriate in the instant case for several reasons.

6 First, Homejoy was specifically advised that, as a corporation, it could not appear in this
7 action without counsel, see Civ. L.R. 3-9 (providing that a “corporation, unincorporated
8 association, partnership or other such entity may appear only through a member of the bar of this
9 Court”), and that failure to obtain counsel could lead to a default judgment. While the Court has 10 accommodated Homejoy by, e.g., granting a stay extension so that the anticipated assignee could 11 make an appearance through replacement counsel, the stay has now expired and no appearance has 12 been forthcoming. Moreover, even though Mr. Iglesias served a copy of his motion for entry of 13 default on Homejoy, the Court has heard nothing from either Homejoy or any assignee. Under 14 these circumstances, entry of default is proper. See, e.g., Employee Painters’ Trust v. Ethan
15 Enters., Inc., 480 F.3d 993, 998 (9th Cir. 2007) (holding that corporation’s failure to comply with 16 local rule requiring a corporation to be represented by counsel “suffices to support the default
17 judgment against the corporation”); United States v. High Country Broad. Co., 3 F.3d 1244, 1245
18 (9th Cir. 1993) (holding that it was “perfectly appropriate” for a court to enter a default judgment 19 against a corporation that failed to retain counsel to represent it).

20 Second, under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 55(a), the Clerk of the Court is directed to 21 enter default against a party if it “has failed to plead or otherwise defend.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a).
22 Here, in waiving service of the summons and complaint, Homejoy indicated its understanding that 23 it had an obligation to respond to the complaint after the expiration of the stay for mediation. See
24 Docket Nos. 21-22 (waiver). But now, even after that stay and the stay extension have passed,
25 Homejoy and/or any assignee have not made any attempt to respond to the complaint or otherwise
26 defend. Cf. Benny v. Pipes, 799 F.2d 489, 492 (9th Cir. 1986) (stating that “failure to make timely 27 answer to a properly served complaint will justify entry of default judgment”).

28 Accordingly, Mr. Iglesias’s motion for entry of default is granted.

The Court further orders as follows:

(1) The Clerk of the Court shall immediately enter Homejoy’s default.

(2) Mr. Iglesias shall file a motion for default judgment within sixty (60) days from the date of this order. The motion shall be served on Homejoy as well as the assignee (to the extent Mr. Iglesias has contact information for the assignee<sup>2</sup>). Mr. Iglesias must address, in his motion for default judgment, the Eitel v. McCool, 782 F.2d 1470, 1471 (9th Cir. 1986), factors.

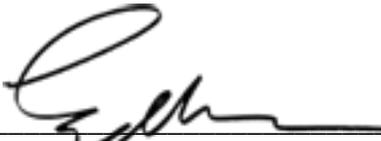

(3) Mr. Iglesias shall immediately serve a copy of this order on Homejoy and the assignee (again, to the extent Mr. Iglesias has contact information for the assignee). Proofs of service must be filed within a week of the date of this order.

(4) The Clerk of the Court shall provide a courtesy copy of this order to former counsel for Homejoy (Paul Hastings).

This order disposes of Docket No. 33.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

Dated: September 29, 2015

<sup>2</sup> If Mr. Iglesias does not currently have contact information for the assignee, then he shall make a reasonably diligent effort to obtain the information, including, e.g., contacting former counsel for Homejoy (Paul Hastings).
